

Annual European Congress of Rheumatology Abstract Embargo

Accepted abstracts are published in a special supplement to the “Annals of Rheumatic Diseases – The EULAR Journal” at the congress (the “Abstract Book”). In addition, they are made available on the EULAR website approximately one month prior to the congress for the information of the delegates. Information contained in abstracts may not be released until the abstract appears online.

Academic institutions, private organisations and companies, whose value may be influenced by information contained in an abstract, may issue a press release to coincide with the availability of an abstract on the EULAR website.

However, EULAR requires that information going beyond that contained in the abstract, such as discussion of the abstract, presentation of additional new data or other details that will be presented at the congress, is under embargo until 00:01h of the opening day of the EULAR Congress. Violation of the embargo may result in the abstract being withdrawn from the congress and/or other measures deemed appropriate.

It is not considered a violation of this policy if an abstract or information thereof is presented elsewhere, if acceptance is still pending at the time of the regular abstract submission deadline (usually end of January).

It is the responsibility of the submitting author to inform any other interested parties about this policy.
